Act now, offer closes 29 February 2016

Why?

The UK has some very cold and damp housing and a lot of it is right here. Of course it is – you know our weather and you know the state of many of our old homes.

And people die because of it – thousands of extra winter deaths in England every year are related to cold temperatures in terribly cold homes.

There are a host of indirect problems too that get in the way of people – young and old - leading the lives they should. You don't want to be in a cold, damp house in a cold and wet winter – living in one room, shivering over homework, worrying about being cold or suffering carbon monoxide poisoning from an ill maintained boiler or chimney.

Why struggle?

People struggle to go about their normal lives and become socially isolated – who wants to invite people round to a freezing house? People simply don't work or play very well when they're in cold or damp houses.

Winter can be a worrying time and you don't want to try to survive it in a cold and damp house. It really is time something was done.

We have the funding, all we need now are the homes and the households. The people to raise their hands and say “warm me up!”

Why not apply?

So, yes, we are offering to install central heating completely free in homes that qualify. You may be an owner, landlord or private tenant. And no you don't need to be on mains gas – we know Cornwall and the Isles of Scilly. Of course not everyone will qualify but why not have a go – you have nothing to lose apart from the shivers. And you have much to gain – like a new life.

To see if your home qualifies for the “Central Heating Fund”, the private home must have all three points below :

- ✔ recipient who is in or at risk of being in “fuel poverty” residing in property “G” rated;
- and;
- ✔ a domestic premises (dwelling) which is not currently using gas as the primary heating fuel;
- and
- ✔ where a central heating system would be installed for the first time.
